Point of Ayr Terminal

COMMUNITY NOTICE

PoA Terminal Decommissioning and Construction Activity

Decommissioning and construction activities are ongoing at the Point of Ayr Terminal and surrounding Colliery area, which may result in increased site activity, vehicle movements and noise.

Subject to project progress. piling activities and the removal of paint from the metal racking infrastructure will continue within the Terminal until the end of 2026. During this period, you may notice an increase in noise, site activity and vehicle movements.

All activities will take place Monday to Friday from 08:00 to 18:00 and Saturdays from 08:00 to 13:00, with an additional hour either side for site preparation and close-down. With reduced daylight during the autumn and winter months, during these hours you may notice additional lighting within the Terminal, which is required to support the safe delivery of activities on site. You may also see unmanned aerial vehicles ('drones') operating within the Terminal boundary but no noise is associated with them.

Temporary Closure of Public Right of Way

The public footpath (highlighted in yellow on the map) is temporarily closed, following approval from Flintshire County Council. In September, approval was granted for the temporary closure to remain in place for a further six months.

The route, which runs between the Point of Ayr Terminal and the Colliery, has been securely fenced off as a safety precaution to protect the public from the ongoing work on the Colliery, and ensure the safety of the workforce undertaking the activities ongoing in this area.

While the path is closed, an alternative route (shown in green on the map) is available along the railway line, reconnecting with the Wales Coastal path. Clear signage has been installed to guide walkers to the alternative route.
